NEW PARISH VISION STATEMENT

Good Shepherd Parish will be a community where every member is on fire with the Truth. We will be guided by the Holy Spirit and will be a force for God's mission. We will be strengthened through our worship, participation in the Sacraments, lifelong faith formation, study of the Word, and fellowship with one another, our neighbors, and beyond. We will show our love by being the hands and feet of Christ and sharing our joy with our community, our diocese, and our world.

In This Sunday's Readings

"As the Lord spoke to me, the spirit entered into me and set me on my feet, and I heard the one who was speaking say to me, 'Son of man, I am sending you...'" Ezekiel 2:2-3

Where is God sending you? Do you hear Him when He speaks to you? God has a plan for each of us, and fortunately He does not leave us alone in discerning our call. He gives us resources and signs. Our part is to be open to the messages and answer His call.

Dear Saint-in-the-Making,
Happy Lord's Day!

Do science and faith contradict each other?
Some say they do, but they are mistaken.
Here's a poem I wrote you might consider sharing with the young people in your life who have likely heard the popular falsehood that science contradicts faith:

The Wings Of Science And Faith

My science teacher sat me down at lunch and said with pride

"I've spied how hard you've worked...
You've pushed, you've sweat, you've tried!"

He shared he'd like to tutor me in things not taught in class

I said, "I guess, but will it help me pass?"

He grinned and said, "Of course! For both the old folks and the youth

Two wings are sorely needed...
To soar and fly to truth!

Like Beatrice, or Morpheus, I'll try opening your eyes
So listen well", he mumbled, munching fries

"The Matter-only Vision says what's seen is ALL that's real
The things that you can sense
Or measure, test, or feel
It holds that all that matters is the matter you can hold
On the Matter-only Vision, are you sold?"

I mused, "So if I understand, on science
this view is founded
The only things that count
Are things that can be counted
The view that all that's valuable is viewable by eyes!
So in the face of many Faiths, this flies!"

My mentor chuckled, stating, "You have grasped the concept clearly
There's more, please hear me out
But first, d'you have some query?"

I said, "I do! I'm Christian, but I also trust in science
Could both beliefs be somehow in alliance?"

He jumped up, spilled his tea and cried,
"Of course! They're best of friends!
They complement each other
On each, the truth depends!
A lot of famous scientists were also faithful Christians
Like Bacon, Llull and Ockham, all
Franciscans!"

I paused and posed, "I guess they had a different kind of vision?"
He nodded, "Yes! Passed down through looooong tradition!"
"The Sacramental Vision says that while what's seen is real
The unseen is as well
This view makes sense, I feel
It holds what matters most is that which eyes cannot behold
When the heart learns how to see, new worlds unfold!"

I realized then the sandwich in my hand I hadn't bitten
His words were oddly filling
Such wonders left me smitten
I stated, "This is deeper than your class, but no offense!"
"I see", he yelled with glee, "it's making sense!"
I thought, "I just can't wait to tell my friends about this stuff!"
He took a breath, sat down, and on he spieled...

"The spirit realm's unseen, yet by the stuff of earth, revealed
Things visible are symbols
Unveiling what's concealed
That realm is, in a sense, more real than that which senses sense
Is all this clear as mud, or too intense?"
I wagged my head, and spurred him on, my breath held in suspense
He plucked his glasses, pointing to a lens
"A Matter-only Lens examines galaxies or Mars, while
A Sacramental Lens
Sees past the spread of stars

The former says that love is merely chemical reactions
The latter, soul and body interactions"
"The former claims our bodies have no purpose but to thrill, while
The latter, that they teach us
Our purpose, and God's Will
The former has a scope confined to scopes, machines, or tools
The latter is not bound by physics' rules!"

The bell then pulled my head from new and mind-expanding clouds
"Could we pick up here tomorrow?"
I begged, "as time allows?"
He cried, "Of course! And bring a friend who might enjoy this topic!"
"I will!" I said, "It's made me less... myopic!"

That night I laid there pond'ring, head upon the pillow pressing
The Matter-only Vision
Is flatter, dull, depressing!
It claims that when I die, so dies my "I"; then worms lay claim
Yet the other Vision... sparks my heart aflame!

That wise old bird! He shoved me from my nest to spread both wings
Of science and of faith
To let me find fresh things
To let me soar the heights with eyes of flesh and eyes of heart
To see the eternal sights new Vision brings!

"To Jesus Through Mary" -Love, Fr. Nate
