Respect Life Quote of the Week

"We are facing an enormous and dramatic clash between good and evil, death and life, the 'culture of death' and the 'culture of life'. We find ourselves not only 'faced with' but necessarily 'in the midst of' this conflict; we are all involved and we all share in it, with the inescapable responsibility of choosing to be unconditionally pro-life" (The Gospel of Life 28).

“Life with Christ is a wonderful adventure”

(Pope St. John Paul II)

Dear Disciple, Happy Lent!

What’s your plan for Lent? What’s God’s plan for you this Lent? Jesus tells us in the Gospel for Ash Wednesday that our heavenly Father’s plan for you is to “repay” you for your prayer, fasting, and almsgiving... He will, in this life and the next!

I’m giving up TV and “doomscrolling” (mindlessly scrolling social media which eventually leads to doom). Instead, I’m spending more time with Jesus before bed; more time reviewing my day and thanking Him for the graces AND struggles He sent me that day. “Give thanks in ALL circumstances” (1 Thes. 5:18) because God will bring a greater good out of every evil He allows (Rom. 8:28- look it up!).

I’ve joined the Hallow Pray 40 Challenge, led by Jonathan Roumie (Jesus in The Chosen series), Fr. Mike Schmitz, and others. Have you tried the Hallow app yet? It offers a free trial. After that, you may wish to pay the low monthly fee because of all the amazing content that helps you grow closer to Jesus and Mary and our heavenly Father.

Are you an “intentional disciple”? Intentionally, purposefully, daily growing as a disciple? Seeking to become a “disciple-maker”? Disciples strive to make other disciples. The greatest crisis in the Catholic Church is the lack of discipleship. Tim Glemkowski, in his book Made for Mission highlights the need for parishes to offer a yearly “pathway to discipleship” in order to become what our Lord wishes them to be: training centers for discipleship and evangelization.

The small in-home discipleship groups offered during Lent, involving watching and discussing the Chosen Series, is a wonderful way to grow and blossom as a disciple of Jesus. Please sign up for one of the groups! You will be amazed by how much you grow in a small discipleship group. Every Catholic needs a small discipleship group to be protected from the lies of the enemy, to grow as a disciple, and to experience so many other benefits. Love for Jesus and Mary is contagious. We all need to spend time regularly (besides Sunday Mass) with other “contagious disciples”!

Think of a hot coal. Imagine it is placed next to a bunch of smoldering or cold coals. What will happen? The hot coal will heat up the other coals! I love spending time with hot coals and discussing how amazing and beautiful and merciful Jesus is.

Some Holy Humor

Did you hear about the dyslexic agnostic insomniac? He would stay up all night wondering about the existence of Dog.

A Favorite Verse from Parish Survey

The verse a parishioner chose:

John 14:6ff: “Do not let your hearts be troubled. You believe in God; believe also in me. My Father’s house has many rooms; if that were not so, would I have told you that I am going there to prepare a place for you? And if I go and prepare a place for you, I will come back and take you to be with me that you also may be where I am. You know the way to the place where I am going.”

The person wrote: It helps me through days when I doubt myself that God will and has forgiven me for all my past sins. It is such a beautiful passage. John’s gospel is my absolute favorite. It has a special meaning to me and always will have.

What is one of your favorite verses? Let me know!

B.A.K.E.R. Examen Prayer- Endnote #74 from “33 Days to Morning Glory” by Fr. Michael Gaitley

The examination of conscience (also called “examen”) should be made sometime toward the end of the day. Most people make it shortly before going to bed. It’s basically a mental review of the previous 16 hours or so of consciousness — thus, some people prefer to call the examination of conscience an examination of consciousness. To make the examen, first, we should put ourselves in the presence of God. In other words, we should begin with the attitude that the examen is a time of prayer, not just a mental exercise. Devoutly making the Sign of the Cross may be enough to do this. Next... remember one word: baker, B-A-K-E-R, baker...

B stands for “Blessings.” According to St. Ignatius, this is the most important of the five points. Here we simply review our day, survey the many blessings God has given us throughout it, and then praise and thank him for these blessings. For instance, maybe we had a great conversation with someone at lunch. During the examen, we might want to reflect on that gift and praise and thank God for it. Of course, we don’t have to go through every single blessing of the day. That would take way too much time. The key is to let one’s heart roam about and settle on the particular peaks of joy and blessing of the day, what Ignatius calls “consolation.” One more thing: We shouldn’t forget to thank God for the crosses of the day, which are also blessings. If we get into the habit of praising and thanking God like this every day during our examen, then we’ll begin to better recognize the blessings of our day as they happen, and thus, we’ll develop a continual attitude of gratitude. In other words, our praise and thanks won’t begin to flow simply when we make our examen — it’ll flow all day long. Furthermore, as God sees our efforts to recognize and thank him for his many gifts, he’ll send us more and more.

A stands for “Ask.” Although we already placed ourselves in the presence of God when we began the examen, here we need to ask for a special grace from the Holy Spirit, the grace to recognize our sins. Without the help of the Holy Spirit, we’ll remain blind to our sinfulness. Thus, when we get to this second point, we need to ask the Holy Spirit to help us recognize our sinfulness, which brings us to the next point.

K stands for “Kill.” Why “kill”? Because it was our sins that killed and crucified Jesus. So, again, we gaze across the conscious hours of our day. This time, however, we look not for peaks but valleys, what Ignatius calls “desolation.” In other words, we pay attention to those times during our day when our hearts dropped. Why might they have dropped? Maybe because of someone else’s sin. Maybe someone said something unkind to us. Fine. Did we forgive them? If so, good. If not, well, the examen is a good time to deal with it [pray, “Jesus in Your Name, I forgive (Name) for doing/ not doing (fill in the blank)]. Now, let’s keep looking. Here’s another time our hearts dropped. It was this afternoon at work, standing by the water cooler. Hmmm. Why did our hearts drop then? Ah, yes (thanks, Holy Spirit), that’s when we stuck Bob with a verbal [attack]. Let’s see, anything else? Yes, there’s another heart dropper: We didn’t accept the traffic jam on our way home as a small sharing in the Cross. We should have been more peaceful about it and offered it up as a prayer for others. Okay, so after remembering all those heart-dropping moments, we may feel pretty down. Such a feeling may make us want to run away from Jesus. Let’s not. When the weight of our sinfulness drags us down, that’s the best time to go to Jesus, sinfulness and all — which brings us to the next point.

E stands for “Embrace.” This is to allow Jesus to embrace us, sinners that we are, with the rays of his merciful love. While praying over this point, it may be helpful to think of the Image of Divine Mercy. I like to imagine the rays of this image embracing me with forgiveness. I also like to remember Jesus’ words that it rests his Heart to forgive and that when I go to him with my sinfulness, I give him the joy of being my Savior. I believe that at this point of the examen, we greatly console Jesus when we simply let him embrace us with his merciful love — and of course, we, too, are consoled. I recommend spending some time lingering on this point (in the embrace) before moving on to the next.

R stands for “Resolution.” During this last point of the examen, we take what we’ve learned from the previous points and look ahead to the next day, ready to make resolutions. For instance, having recognized during “K” that we stuck Bob with a verbal barb at the office today, we might resolve that tomorrow morning we’ll make it up to him by going to his cubicle, slapping him on the back, and congratulating him on how his football team did earlier this evening. Also, having remembered that we were impatient during the traffic jam today, we can resolve to bite our tongues if the sea of brake lights appears again tomorrow. Finally, because during “B” we realized that God was speaking to us during our lunchtime conversation with Sally, giving light on a certain problem, we can resolve to act on that light by looking up the online article she recommended. (I think we get the idea.)
