NOVEMBER

Month of the Holy Souls in Purgatory

. . . . . .

DECEMBER

The Immaculate Conception of the Blessed Virgin Mary

- Holy Father's November Intention:
  For the Proper Use of Wealth
  Let us pray for the proper use of wealth, that not succumbing to the temptation of selfishness, it may always be put at the service of the common good and solidarity of those who have less.
- Holy Father's December Intention:
  For Single-Parent Families
  Let us pray for families experiencing the absence of a mother or father, that they may find support and accompaniment in the Church, and help and strength in the Faith during difficult times.

PARISH VISION STATEMENT

Good Shepherd Parish will be a community where every member is on fire with the Truth. We will be guided by the Holy Spirit and will be a force for God's mission. We will be strengthened through our worship, participation in the Sacraments, lifelong faith formation, study of the Word, and fellowship with one another, our neighbors, and beyond. We will show our love by being the hands and feet of Christ and sharing our joy with our community, our diocese, and our world.

Today is Invocation Weekend.
Please pray for priestly vocations and prayerfully consider a young man who may have the qualities of a good priest. Look for faith, sound character, leadership, generosity, and a spirit of service. He does not need to have expressed an interest in the priesthood to be named.
Visit saginawvocations.org/pray to make a pledge to pray for priestly vocations or visit saginawvocations.org/calledbyname to submit a name through the Diocese of Saginaw's Called by Name portal. A nomination is a simple way for the Church to recognize his gifts and invite him to listen for the Lord's call.

Catholics: Be salt, light, and leaven through your vote.

The Church cannot and will not tell you who to vote for.

Ultimately, those decisions are to be made after forming one's conscience based on the teachings of the Church and prayerful reflection of candidate positions.

Any claim that Catholics "must" vote for this candidate or that candidate is merely a personal opinion rather than what the Church and the bishops teach the faithful about voting.

Voting as a faithful citizen includes prayer, research, and discernment. It is a thoughtful rather than a reflexive approach.

Remember: All believers are called to be salt, light, and leaven in the world, particularly when they allow the truths of the Catholic faith to form their voting decisions. In closing, to slightly paraphrase the spiritual motto of St. Padre Pio:

Pray, Vote, & Don't Worry!

Life Is Changed, Not Ended

Dear brothers and sisters in Christ,

Today, the Church celebrates All Souls' Day, a day when we remember and pray for all our beloved dead—our parents, grandparents, brothers, sisters, relatives, friends, and all those who have gone before us.

Today, our hearts are filled with both sadness and hope. We remember the faces of those we loved, the voices we can no longer hear, and the beautiful memories they have left behind.

Some of us have lost our parents, others their husbands, wives, children, or close friends. Even after many years, the pain of separation can remain in our hearts.

But today, the Church reminds us of an important truth: Death is not the end of our story. For those who believe in Christ, death is the doorway to eternal life.

1. We Remember and Pray for Our Beloved Dead

Every human life is a gift from God. We come into this world through God's love, live by His grace, and ultimately return to Him.

Our beloved dead may no longer be physically present among us, but their love and sacrifices continue to live in our hearts. We remember a mother's care, a father's sacrifices, a grandparent's prayers, and the kindness of our friends.

However, All Souls' Day is more than a day of remembering. It is also a day of praying.
As Catholics, we believe in praying for the faithful departed, asking God in His mercy to purify them and welcome them into His heavenly Kingdom.
The greatest prayer we can offer for our departed loved ones is the Holy Mass. When we celebrate Mass for them, we entrust their souls to Jesus Christ, who died and rose again for our salvation.
The Second Book of Maccabees reminds us that praying for the dead is a holy and worthy practice (2 Maccabees 12:46).
Let us pray not only for our family members but also for those who have no one to remember them, those who died alone, and those whose names have been forgotten by the world. God has not forgotten them.

2. Death Is Not the End
In the Gospel of John, Jesus declares:
"I am the resurrection and the life. Whoever believes in me, even if he dies, will live." (John 11:25)
Jesus spoke these words to Martha after the death of her brother, Lazarus.
Martha was grieving, and Jesus did not ignore her sorrow. In fact, Jesus Himself wept at the tomb of Lazarus.
This teaches us something important: It is not wrong to cry when someone we love dies. Tears are not a sign of weak faith; they are often a sign of deep love.
But as Christians, our sorrow is accompanied by hope.
Saint Paul reminds us that we should not grieve like those who have no hope (1 Thessalonians 4:13).
We grieve, but we do not despair. We mourn, but we believe in the Resurrection. We say goodbye to our loved ones on earth, trusting in God's promise of eternal life.
The grave does not have the final word. Jesus Christ does!

3. What Does All Souls' Day Teach Us?
Dear brothers and sisters, All Souls' Day is not only about those who have died. It is also an invitation to reflect on our own lives.
One day, each of us will complete our earthly journey. We do not know when that day will come. When that moment arrives, what will matter most? Will it be the money we accumulated, the property we purchased, or the position we held?
These things may be important during our earthly lives, but we cannot take them with us beyond the grave.
What truly matters is our relationship with God and the love we have shown to others.
Did we forgive those who hurt us? Did we help the poor? Did we care for our parents? Did we bring peace to our families? Did we make time for God?
Sometimes, we postpone love. We say, "I will forgive that person someday," or "I will spend time with my family when I have more time."
But life is uncertain.
All Souls' Day reminds us to love today, forgive today, pray today, and serve God today.
The best way to honor our departed loved ones is not merely to remember how they lived, but also to live our own lives with faith, love, and holiness.

4. Our Final Home Is with God
In John 14:2, Jesus tells His disciples:
"In my Father's house there are many dwelling places."
These words give us great consolation. Our earthly homes are temporary, and death separates us from those we love. But Jesus promises that our final destiny is to live with God.
We do not know every detail of the life to come, but we know the One who has promised it to us.
Jesus died. Jesus rose again. And because He lives, we have hope.
When we visit the cemetery, light a candle, or place flowers on the graves of our loved ones, let us remember that these actions express our love, but our greatest gift to the departed is our prayer.
Our flowers may fade, and our candles may burn out, but God's love never fades.
Conclusion: Remember, Pray, and Hope
Dear brothers and sisters, let us take three important messages home from today's celebration.
First, remember. Thank God for the lives of our departed loved ones and the love they shared with us.
Second, pray. Offer the Holy Mass and our prayers for the faithful departed, entrusting them to God's mercy.
Third, hope. Do not allow grief to take away your faith. Jesus Christ has conquered death and opened the way to eternal life.
Let us remember that death is not the end of love, and the grave is not the end of life. In Christ, we look forward to the promise of the Resurrection.

CATHOLIC CAMPAIGN FOR HUMAN DEVELOPMENT
WORKING ON THE MARGINS

The bishops of the United States founded the Catholic Campaign for Human Development (CCHD) to fight poverty by empowering members of local communities, rather than by offering top-down solutions. Using this approach, CCHD-funded organizations identify the most pressing issues and develop creative solutions that lead to lasting positive changes in the community. They address poverty at its roots.

Access to affordable housing is a challenge for people in neighborhoods across the United States. Housing insecurity is not limited to big cities—it affects people in small towns and rural areas as well. Kentucky's Lewis County, where 23% of residents live below the poverty line, is one example.

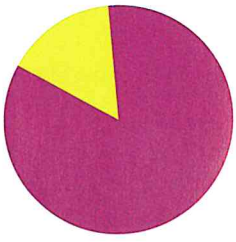

Since 1982, People's Self-Help Housing Inc. (PSHH) has helped residents of Lewis County secure affordable housing by constructing new energy-efficient homes, repairing and rehabilitating existing homes, and maintaining affordable rental units, while also creating jobs by training local residents as carpenters, electricians, and plumbers. Located in the Diocese of Covington and supported by CCHD funding, PSHH shares CCHD's commitment to helping people help themselves.

Your contribution to the CCHD collection helps organizations like PSHH to break the cycle of poverty across the country and in your own neighborhood, where 25% of your contribution remains to support local antipoverty efforts.

Learn more about how CCHD advances the Church's moral and social teaching by empowering communities: visit www.usccb.org/cchd.

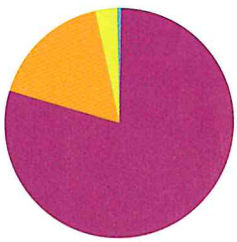

LEARN about those living in poverty who are working to improve their communities. • ACT and spread the word about poverty by sharing this flier. • CONNECT with the work of CCHD by supporting the collection. • PRAY for those who benefit from this collection.
